The company is thrilled to find a new space in its original home of Westchester County, New York. DLC's relocation is a result of rapid business growth. Over the last three years alone, the company and its affiliates have added 10.3 million square feet to an expanding portfolio. After nineteen years, the time has come for DLC to find a new home, one that will foster even more #success. DLC defines its people-first culture as "working together to create personally rewarding, productive, respectful, profitable and thoroughly enjoyable place to work."
